impact assessment

roles
work, home, family, other relationships roles in order of importance short reflection on where make the most impact with others

how does making an impact make me feel?

how long does that feeling last does impact grow me into a more authentic version of me?

does impact seem to make me a better person?

how or why not?

~~tm~~ ring true that impact as primary form of meaning-making gets one stuck feeling not enough?

is it encouraging or discouraging and why?

fully-alive vs. fulfilled assessment fulfillment as becoming all that one can be

- how attractive?

(all capacity expressed in this life (fulfilled)
if only briefly

or

vibrantly engaged and present in every moment of my life (fully-alive)

why?

how does self-transendency enable a meaningful life?

agree ~~that~~ we ~~can~~ contain more than ~~one~~ fits in one life and can't become all that we are, but we can be fully-alive moment-to-moment?

idea encouraging or discouraging? why?

particularity assessment

how often seem ~~tt~~ some aspect of life isn't enough?

what do I want and will there ever be enough?

how good is Nathaniel at noticing the little things in life? the moments of life encouraging that can only experience fleeting aspects of any ultimate or universal / such as love or beauty in moments (the particular)? why?

what would it mean if the best of life is a series of particular moments?

point-of-view reflection

what does Nathaniel notice as important in reviewing responses?

what questions does this raise? helping others how is meaning-making clarifying or changing. how does that feel?

what is Nathaniel ready to change about meaning-making?